Department of Economics in Collaboration with Economics Club and

Film and Music Club Proposes

Movienomics- Series 1

“A Beautiful Mind (2001)”

The Department of Economics, in collaboration with the Economics Club and Film & Music Club, proposes to launch “Moveinomics: Series 1” — a unique initiative that blends the world of cinema with the world of economics. This innovative series is designed to provide students with an engaging platform to analyse economic concepts, ideologies, and issues through the lens of thought-provoking films and documentaries.

Objective:

The primary objectives of "Moveinomics" are:

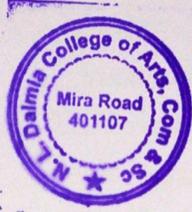

- 1) To enhance students' understanding of economic theories, social policies, and real-world economic issues through visual storytelling.
- 2) To develop analytical and critical thinking by interpreting economic themes presented in films.
- 3) To foster an interactive and interdisciplinary learning environment.
- 4) To promote peer learning through post-screening discussions, debates, and expert inputs.

Expected Outcomes

- 1) Improved grasp of complex economic issues in a real-world context.
- 2) Better appreciation for economic diversity, inequality, policy outcomes, and behavioral patterns.
- 3) Strengthened communication and debate skills among students.
- 4) Creation of a recurring, student-driven platform for informal yet insightful economic discourse.
